aircraft, he flew several combat missions. The proprietor of O'Neill's Tavern in East Hampton, a business started by his father, he was active in local government before being elected to the House of Representatives in 1966. By 1975 he was its majority leader.

In 1978 he was elected lieutenant governor and succeeded Gov. Ella T. Grasso when illness forced her resignation Dec. 31, 1980.

As governor, Mr. O'Neill reorganized the higher education system, raised the salaries of all teachers and increased the funding for practically all people-oriented programs. Following the collapse of the Mianus River Bridge in Greenwich he launched a 10-year $6.5 billion infrastructure renewal program.

Mr. O'Neill won gubernatorial elections in 1982 and '86. In 1990 he announced his retirement. In January, 1991 he returned to the O'Neills' home in East Hampton.

During the Mass of Christian Burial in St. Patrick's Church, East Hampton, Gov. M. Jodi Rell said "He (Mr. O'Neill) never lost himself in the glory of being governor. He was simply Bill O'Neill, someone who loved politics and public service" She noted that Mr. O'Neill was too often underestimated and under appreciated. Mrs. Rell looked at his widow and said, "Nikki, thank you for sharing him with us."

Rev. Charles R. LeBlanc, pastor of St. Patrick's, declared that Mr. O'Neill was "the salt of the earth." Two longtime friends, Atty. James Wade and former state Senator George Hannon, also spoke. Three bishops and several priests were present in the sanctuary. Mr. O'Neill was buried in the Veterans' Cemetery in Middletown. He leaves his wife of 45 years, Natalie Scott Damon O'Neill, a retired school teacher. ■

Firefighters' Role Highlighted

Two ranking state officials called attention to the valuable contribution made by firefighters in Connecticut to the well-being of people throughout the state.

Gov. M. Jodi Rell declared at the 5th annual Memorial Service for fallen firefighters, "Every day our firefighters risk their personal safety to protect the lives and property of others. In recognition of their service I urge people to say a simple 'thank you' the next time you happen to see a firefighter."

A "thank you," she explained, "is a great way to show that we appreciate the outstanding service that they provide."

Atty. Gen. Richard Blumenthal, noting that the day, Oct. 21, had been designated "Firefighters' Day" by the Governor, said, "We celebrate today the profoundly valuable service of our firefighters in protecting all of us - most especially children and families - from the terrible terror of fire disaster. This protection exacts a sacrifice, which we recognize and honor here today."

Both Mrs. Rell and Mr. Blumenthal called attention to the fact that three names were being added to the memorial - firefighters who lost their lives in the line of duty.

Mr. Blumenthal recalled the "panorama" of thousands of firefighters standing at attention during the funeral ceremonies for Capt. John Keane in Waterbury. He said Mr. Keane and the men and women whose names are on the memorial are "real heroes, models of public service for us and our children."

In addition to Mr. Keane, Capt. Joseph S. Pagano of the Middletown Fire Dept. and Foreman Thomas Langan of the Winsted Fire Dept. were honored during the ceremonies at the Memorial on the grounds of the Connecticut Fire Academy, Windsor Locks. ■

While serving as master of ceremonies at the meeting Mr. Guerra, the elder, praised the work of Managing Director William E. Sydenham, Jr., and Edward J. Funk, who held that position for several years before his retirement late in 1994.

Mr. Cobb and the Guerras spoke about the continued good work of the club, which has distributed $7.9 million to families of law enforcers, firefighters and correction officers who lost their lives in the line of duty. It was noted that the club has more than 2,400 regular members and approximately 300 senior members.

In his brief remarks Mr. Sydenham called the club "a special organization" and underscored the fact that the roster includes many sons and daughters of veteran members.

Music was provided by members of the Connecticut Firefighters Pipes & Drums. The colors were presented by an Honor Guard from the Waterbury Fire Dept.

Mr. Guerra's term as president officially started Jan. 1. Mr. Cobb intends to stay active as a past president serving on the Board of Directors. ■

Andrew Santacroce

A long time member of The Hundred Club, Andrew J. Santacroce, of Farmington, died during the past year. Mr. Santacroce was 2nd vice president of the club.

A member since 1984, he became involved in shaping the club's policies in 1993. He first served on the Board of Directors and subsequently held various offices.

Mr. Santacroce, who died May 22, after a long battle with cancer, was born in New Haven May 21, 1929. He served five years in the U.S. Navy before becoming the first manager of a McDonald's Restaurant in New England. At the time of his death Mr. Santacroce was operating six McDonald's franchises.

He leaves his wife Barbara Jungherr Santacroce and six grown children. He was pre-deceased by a daughter. He also leaves two brothers, several grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Mary of the Sea Church, Unionville. ■

Gov. O'Neill's Gift

In 1996 when Gov. (Ret) Bill O'Neill won $1,103 in a trap shooting contest at the Andover Sportsmen's Club he told officials to send the check to The Hundred Club. ■

Manchester Officer Succumbs in Canada

Hundreds of people, including law enforcers from throughout the state, paid their respects to Capt. Patrick Reeves. The veteran member of the Manchester Police Dept. was stricken with a coronary attack July 29 while participating in a law enforcement conference in Canada.

Capt. Patrick Reeves

During the funeral service August 7 in St. James Church, Manchester, a eulogist noted that Mr. Reeves had an "infectious smile and jovial laugh." Another speaker pointed out that Mr. Reeves was a second father to many youngsters in Manchester and in Coventry where he lived.

Mr. Reeves was born in Hartford, the son of Raymond and Nancy Reeves. He started his career in law enforcement in 1977 by joining the Wethersfield Police Dept. After receiving an Associate's Degree in Law Enforcement from Manchester Community College in 1979 he joined the Manchester Police Dept. He rose through the ranks from patrol officer to sergeant to lieutenant and finally to captain.

He earned his Bachelor's Degree at Charter Oak College and his Master's Degree from Western New England College. He was a founding member of the Manchester Police Athletic League.

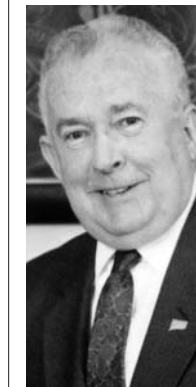

Mr. Reeves is survived by his wife, Maureen Kelly Reeves, a daughter, Kathryn, and a son, Tyler. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. James Church,

Governor O'Neill Dies; Supported 100 Club

Gov. William A. O'Neill died Nov. 24 following a long battle with emphysema. The longest serving chief executive in the modern history of the state was a strong supporter of The Hundred Club. He delivered the main address at the club's annual meeting on several occasions while he was governor and continued to attend the sessions after he left office. Also, he regularly attended the dinner following the club's golf tournaments.

A recipient of the club's Distinguished Public Service Award, Mr. O'Neill was named an Honorary Life Member in 1997 during the presidency of Peter H. Guerra. While governor, Mr. O'Neill made certain that State Police operations were adequately funded.

Firefighters were also of special concern. During his final year in office, Mr. O'Neill provided the funds for the construction of the Connecticut Fire Academy, Windsor Locks.

Mr. O'Neill is credited with playing a major role in the construction of the Law Enforcement Memorial, Meriden.

Born in Hartford Aug. 16, 1930, the son of Joseph and Frances Quinn O'Neill, he grew up in East Hampton and graduated from the local high school. Mr. O'Neill attended New Britain Teachers' College (now Central Connecticut State University) and the University of Hartford. During the Korean Conflict he was a member of the U.S. Air Force. As a turret gunner on B-29

Club's Family Ties Noted by Speakers

With his proud family looking on, Thomas Guerra accepted the presidency of The Hundred Club for the year 2008. He received the gavel, the symbol of the organization's highest office, from Atty. Christopher C. Cobb, the outgoing president. The ceremony took place during the annual meeting Oct. 30 in the Connecticut Convention Center, Hartford.

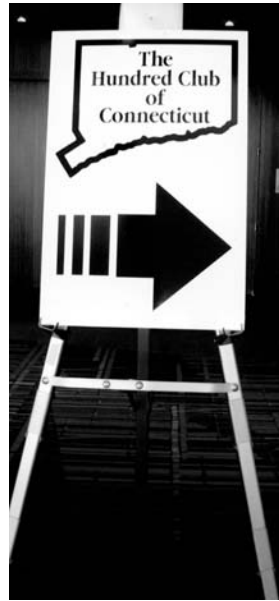

Mr. Guerra is the son of Peter H. Guerra who served as president in 1997, and has remained active as a past president serving on the Board of Directors and chairs the committee which arranges the annual meeting.
